Bon Meade Holds Interactive Math Night

Bon Meade students Ryan Brant and Cassie Kotvas receive instruction on how to play a mathematics review game from third-grade teacher Aimee Platt.

In preparation for the upcoming Pennsylvania System of School Assessment (PSSA) exams, Bon Meade fourth and fifth-grade students participated in a special Math Night event to sharpen their skills for the statewide tests in April.

A total of 108 students and 16 teacher volunteers reviewed and reinforced math concepts, while having fun playing games and utilizing interactive whiteboards for activities designed by Bon Meade teacher Barry Barthelemy during the afterschool event on March 25.
