MAHS Seniors Raise More Than $3,500 For Breast Cancer Research

Moon Area High School seniors and Moon Lady Tiger volleyball players Casey Pattyn and Maddie Fecko raised $3,630.30 for breast cancer research during the district's first "Dig 4 the Cure" volleyball fundraiser on Oct. 6.

The funds will be donated to the Susan G. Komen for the Cure Pittsburgh Affiliate and will be used to support breast cancer research.

Casey and Maddie organized the fundraiser as part of their senior projects in conjunction with a matchup versus the Baldwin-Whitehall Lady Highlanders. To raise the funds, the pair sold 101 specially designed, pink T-shirts at the high school and in the community after soliciting donations for screen printing from area businesses.

Volleyball team members also acquired pledges that secured money with each dig during the game.

At the game, where Moon players donned special pink jerseys, spectators also had the opportunity to donate funds for a raffle ticket to win an autographed Sidney Crosby jersey.
