

'Tis the Season to be Giving

During the month of December, the students and staff at Hyde Elementary celebrated the holiday spirit by decorating their classroom doors and some even the hallways. The goal was simple: Spread the holiday cheer by decorating doors and donating books. The books were donated to an Aliquippa organization, helped out by former Moon graduate Elliot Hawke, that in turn gives them as presents to children in need. The students helped donate over 100 books and raised some money to buy more. This is truly what the holiday season is about.
