McCormick Students Participate in National Reading Event

Students in Angela Poliziani's third-grade class at McCormick Elementary took part in the record-breaking "Read for the Record" where hundreds of thousands of students across the United States read "The Very Hungry Caterpillar" at the same time on Oct. 8.

Principal Julie Moore and other guest readers including parent volunteers read to the class for the event that sought to draw awareness to Jumpstart, an organization which provides additional assistance to needy students, who require help in building their reading, language and social skills.
