Steelers Spirit Sweeps Moon Area

Allard students warmed up their voices for this weekend's Super Bowl by holding a special Steelers pep rally on Jan 30.

Moon Area School District students cheered on the Black and Gold in the weeks and days leading up to this weekend's Super Bowl appearance.

At Allard Elementary, students and staff culminated a week of Black and Gold-themed activities with a pep rally on Friday. Throughout the week, students collected canned goods for West Hills Area Food Pantry in the "Food for the Fans" drive and guessed how many black and gold jelly beans were in a container.

The pep rally saw the crowning of the student with the most Steelers spirit and renditions of Steelers fight songs that resulted in a Terrible Towel waving flurry.

In McCormick Elementary, students decorated their doors with a plethora of Steelers-themed items including Terrible Towels, Black and Gold hats and photos of players Hines Ward and Ben Roethlisberger.

Second-graders in Cheryl Stroup's and Vicky Carney's classrooms even incorporated mathematics and art into a display that lists the classes' favorite Steelers with Troy Polamalu as the most adored.
